7.13.22

Present:
Kellie Bartelmay
Amanda DeTavernier
Christiana Smith
Kathy Gensel
Dana Roberts
Maggie Winston
Abby Struffert

Jack on tech support. Most work reflected in action plan table.

People on coalition in Homer and Seward to represent Coalition at partner and public meetings. Will be putting a call out spokespeople from these areas. Spokespeople will invite or consult with Data or other relevant committees for updated details to inform talking points.

Selecting a date far in advance for this group is most helpful.

Added "sponsorships", "donations" and the idea of a wish list – a public facing list of services the committee is looking to have donated, i.e. printing services, grant writing. May be simply asking for a discount to offset full price.

Attendees:

Kellie Bartelmay Abby Ferrer Christiana Smith Kathy Gensel Maggie Winston Jane Dunn

Jack with tech support and notes

Kathy

Work on Elevator speech – what is it we want to say? Some ideas for social media, whether pushing out homelessness numbers that the state provides, or something else, but something every month for until we can get the actual coalition going.

Kellie

So, having information available. What information? Who we are? Spreadsheet of info? What is the group about?

Maggie

If talking to legislator, someone selling it to – 1min, really simple who, what, when, where, why

Kathy

Grassroots? Collaborative?

Started by our community. Collaborative x3 – organizations and individuals coming to the table

Kenai Peninsula Homelessness Coalition is a collaboration of multiple service programs and partners from the communities within the entire Kenai Peninsula region.

When: formed in _____ in response to _____ the increasing number of residents dealing with houselessness or at risk of becoming houseless

Rapid re-housing is a rare occurrence – most are not able to get new housing when pushed our via landlord, etc.

Definition of what "homeless" can look like, not just someone on the street. Doubling up – not having a permanent place to lay one's head is a part of homelessness.

Kelly King's FB post – resources and explanation included couch surfing

The definition of homelessness is in question – people have a misunderstanding. The qualifications for services don't reflect this reality.

People who are doubling up might not know that they can access services or might be eligible for some services while not others.

Can elaborate further but elevator speech is the hook to grab someone's interest. Toward the end, welcome audience to ask questions now or later on.

Social media folks?

Coalition is using KP CoC social media – will that page name change or will another be created? Who is posting to that? Something today about income necessary to rent 2Bd apartment – not seeing it on homeless connection page.

Jodi Stuart manages this page. Shared the "students in transition" post yesterday.

May end up having a dedicated page for KPHC – once legal entity status/501c3 is established - as part of strategic plan

Suggestion: being elevator speech suggestions to next meeting?

Typically speech identifies organization's needs – what is the ask and who do they contact?

A building in every town, landlords who will rent to folks with limited rental history, evictions

How do we engage students in transition? Unaccompanied minors? How to include folks who may be hesitant to self-identify.

Students in Transition (SiT) = Either young people living with guardians who are unhoused or unstably housed, OR unaccompanied youth not living with a guardian.

1st Homeless Connect event in Seward, two guardians were connected with the SiT program, who were previously unaware of it. Having a representative, a liaison in each community would mean a lot for people to understand what's really available, what would qualify someone, and how long someone can receive help.

SiT provides services like getting connected to basic resources – SNAP, Medicaid, free lunch at school, school supplies, clothes, etc. Cannot provide housing. Choosing Our Roots does that. Host homes can provide housing.

Are they turned into the state? If we know the person is in imminent danger, we have to report to OCS. If we find they are stable and not in immediate danger, we do not report. Vast majority of referrals happen in schools. Need to be eligible to be in school to qualify for SiT program

Elevator speech should share the information that SiT is putting out there and provide opportunity for liaison.

Speeches might share different figures based on goal- otherwise it will be too long. There's a lot of elements to this – a one pager would feel complete

Maggie

If we have some kind of shared statement – one paragraph for instance, would be a good piece of information we have and can share about what we are doing. Can use that to re-start advocacy activities at city council & borough assembly meetings like Kathy and I used to do.

The main theme and who, what might stay the same, and the figures / ask change based on audience.

Hotel/Kitchen in Sterling? House next door for sale too.

Going to processors – who have employee housing in the winter – would they make an arrangement to house folks? Some not closed down completely.

Surplus barracks from JBER – where could this be used?

Best Western (Edgewater) hotel unused from Labor Day to Memorial day – ask was made but did not hear back. Windsong Lodge closes in winter as well.

Even some percentage of donation would help – How could we incentivize those with these assets to share them? Educate and correct misunderstandings and assumptions people have about who is homeless – images and explanations of family situations to tell the whole story.

As a conversation starter

Do you want to be involved in representing your community?

Do you have a story to share? (i.e. have you been homeless or are you currently houseless)

Will you donate money or services to secure housing for our neighbors?

Kathy Gensel Kellie Bartelmay Jack Darling providing meeting support

The homework was elevator speeches – We have a couple to share and discussed garnering support for the housing coordinator ordinance in October. If we can clarify the expected date of ordinance in front of assembly – send email out to group to ask folks to come support approval of ordinance.

Kellie notes that several people she has worked with recently who are easily eligible for housing - have good rental history, jobs, etc, but their housing went away because their landlord wants to rent to AirBNB during the summer months. We just aren't seeing normal rentals for year lease — only winter or weekly are available. People who have a AHFC voucher aren't finding housing they can use it on, and they only have 3 months to use it. Then, it goes to the next person and the original voucher holder goes to the bottom of the waiting list. It's very discouraging when there's nothing more or better a person can do but there's nothing available that will accept it. This can also be a house — the money goes directly from AHFC to landowner.

We need education to landowners. Rental history can still get people turned away.

A class on renter/tenant expectations and responsibilities could help someone's rental application, could offset poor rental history and increase the chance that landlords will accept their application. This could include referral to tenant rights legal aid. Kellie can host in their ILC space.

Are "community schools" a thing still? Is there one in Juneau? Or perhaps the Re-entry coalition has something? Transitional housing may not be an accurate learning experience for renters as they will allow rent to go unpaid or find funding to cover rent on tenant behalf.

There is a requirement of separate applications for each individual provider of senior income based housing – this is a barrier. There's an out of state corporation that runs it and requires this. AHFC is similar - unless you call in and discuss with a staff member, asking if you can apply to more than one property with your one application. These are large applications

Talking to realtors, discussing if they have heard of this "How to be a good renter", and would they consider renting to people if they've taken the class. Tyson Cox recommended this and said he'd speak at this as well as share with others. Class would offer certificate. Again, if it isn't happening already, this can happen at ILC – nights, weekends, etc.

Next meeting is October 12th at 2PM

Kellie Bartelmay Kathy Gensel Leslie Vines

Discussed at Housing meeting about class for renters. Alaska Housing Finance has the 1st time home buyers class. Wayne mentioned Housing authorities. Jane Dunn with COR mentioned classes at AHFC. Having input from prospective renters

Leslie Vines has been keeping up with emails, is all about the youth. Covenant House had a "ready to rent" program teaching people how to be renters. May have curriculum or resources, this was prevention. Another resource was the Alaska Landlord Tenant – helped me learn what to do. May not know, landlords can take advantage of people.

Landlord Tenant Helpline

For outside of the Anchorage area, you can call the toll-free number at 855-743-1001.

For housing coordinator position, should be able to use the same resolution with no need to present anything new. Interim Mayor Navarre understands the need and how to make it happen. AMHTA funding may not last longer than 1.5 years, and would not begin before January. Jack will continue coordinating committees until housing coordinator has started.

Budget had item that the governor's office was going to hire a statewide coordinator. Then, the pandemic happened and haven't heard update.

Leslie talking to Brian Wilson who was a part of the effort - no update since, but there IS a statewide need. If the statewide need is not met then the local need will need to be met.

First meeting for PHC for Monday October 18th, PHC count night is January 31st. Kathy will be finding someone else to chair the donations, Kellie will be tied up with open enrollment. Kellie will pass along letters for dentists, veterinarians.

Cooperative Extension program through 4-H, perhaps they have a class.
